Criteria to consider for nominees of the

Boehringer Ingelheim 2027 WCABP Veterinarian of the Year

The veterinarian must be a member in good standing with their respective association, or if retired, to have been a member in good standing at the time of retirement. The Boehringer Ingelheim WCABP Veterinarian of the Year Award nominee should be a WCABP member; however, the Board may choose to recognize a non-WCABP veterinarian who has made a significant contribution to bovine practice in Western Canada. Deadlines for all nominations will be December 1st of each year.

By this Award, the WCABP is attempting to honor, or recognize, a veterinarian who embodies some, but not necessarily all, of the following criteria:

1) History of service and dedication to veterinary practice and the cattle industry.
2) History of service to the veterinary profession, specifically to the WCABP and other Western Canadian provincial veterinary associations.
3) Reputation for clinical competency or for being a pioneer or leader in bovine medicine, surgery, or herd health.
4) If the nominee is a non-member, then this person must have a national or international reputation related to bovine medicine, surgery and herd health, and their accomplishments must have had a positive influence on bovine practice in Western Canada.

Nomination Procedure:

Each nomination must include a brief biography and a rationale for why you believe this person is deserving of the award.
